R&D Management Volume 17

Articles

ANDERSON, E. C. — see XIAO-YIN JIN 17, (4), pp. 277–88

BARNHART SARAH A., Developing a Performance Appraisal System 17, (2), pp. 99–102

BARRINGTON, HARRY A., Continuing Learning and the Management of Change 17, (2), pp. 119–25

BONGAERTS JAN C. and DIRK HEINRICHS, Government Support of Clean Technology Research in West Germany: some Evidence 17, (1), pp. 39–50

CEVIDALLI GUIDO — see BENO ZAIDMAN 17, (4), pp. 269–76

CHAKRABARTI ALOK K. — see MICHAEL R. HALPERIN 17, (3), pp. 167–73

COOPER R. G. and E. J. KLEINSCHMIDT, What Makes a New Product a Winner: Success Factors at the Project Level 17, (3), pp. 175–89

CROFT DAVID and PAUL N. FINLAY, Medium Term Planning and Control in Research Organizations 17, (4), pp. 263–68

DOMSCH MICHEL — see TORSTEN J. GERPOTT 17, (2), pp. 103–18

FINLAY N. PAUL — see DAVID CROFT 17, (4), pp. 263–68

GERPOTT TORSTEN J. and MICHEL DOMSCH, R&D Professionals' Reactions to the Career Plateau: Mediating Effects of Supervisors' Behaviour and Job Characteristics 17, (2), pp. 103–18

GRATTON LYNDA, How Can we Predict Management Potential in Research Scientists? 17, (2), pp. 87–97

HALPERIN MICHAEL R. and ALOK K. CHAKRABARTI, Firm and Industry Characteristics Influencing Publications of Scientists in Large American Companies 17, (3), pp. 167–73

HEINRICHS DICK — see JAN C. BONGAERTS 17, (1), pp. 39–50

HOGGE B. — see T. SULLIVAN 17, (4), pp. 289–99

HOLDEN NIGEL J., The Development of the Concept of Communication Competence to Evaluate Industrial Firms' Performance in Cross-cultural Interactions 17, (2), pp. 137–51

ILAN YAEL — see STEVEN E. PLAUT 17, (3), pp. 201–06

JIN XIAO-YIN, ALAN L. PORTER, FREDERICK A. ROSSINI and E. D. ANDERSON, R&D Project Selection and Evaluation: a Microcomputer-based Approach 17, (4), pp. 277–88

KIRTON M. J., M. J. Kirton's Reply to R. L. Payne's Article 'Individual Differences and Performance of R&D Personnel' 17, (3), pp. 163–66

KLEINSCHMIDT E. J. — see R. G. COOPER 17, (3), pp. 175–89

LOVELACE ROBERT F., R&D Planning Techniques 17, (4), pp. 241–51

LUUKKONEN-GRONOW T., Scientific Research Evaluation: a Review of Methods and Various Contexts of their Application 17, (3), pp. 207–21

MCMULLAN W. ED., Lessons from a Low-budget Innovation Centre 17, (3), pp. 191–99

MCMULLAN W. ED. and KARL VESPER, New Ventures and Small Business Innovation for Economic Growth 17, (1), pp. 3–13

MACDONALD STUART, British Science Parks: Reflections on the Politics of High Technology 17, (1), pp. 25–37

MACLEAN ALASDAIR, Management Development for Scientists and Technologists — Opening Address 17, (2), pp. 81–86

PAYNE ROY, Individual Differences & Performances Amongst R&D Personnel: Some Implications for Management Development 17, (3), pp. 153–61

PLAUT STEVEN E. and YAEL ILAN, The Optimal Degree of Diversification in 'High-tech' Firms 17, (3), pp. 201–06
PORTER ALAN L. – see XIAO-YIN JIN 17, (4), pp. 277–88
ROSSINI FREDERICK A. – see XIAO-YIN JIN 17, (4), pp. 277–88
SCIBERRAS E., Government Sponsored Programmes for International Technological Exchanges and Applied Collective Research 17, (1), pp. 15–23
SRIDHAR M. S., Information and Communication Behaviour of Women Space Technologists 17, (4), pp. 301–09
STOLTE-HEISKANEN, Comparative Perspectives on Research Dynamics and Performance: a View from the Periphery 17, (4), pp. 253–62
SULLIVAN T. and B. HOGGE, Instruments of Adjustment in Recession: the Case of R&D Personnel 17, (4), pp. 289–99
SUTTON DAVID C., Models for Developing Managers 17, (2), pp. 127–36
VESPER KARL – see W. ED. MCMULLAN 17, (1), pp. 3–13
WILKINSON A., Corporate Strategy as a Source of Ideas 17, (1), pp. 51–67
ZAIDMAN BENO and GUIDO CEVIDALLI, Project Evaluation: Externalities Must Not Be Disregarded 17, (4), pp. 269–76